

Today's Students Aren't Dreaming of a Sustainable Future. They're Working Out How to Make it Happen

Your students have grown up with Occupy, #MeToo, and Extinction Rebellion. With ethical veganism, eco fashion, and gender pay gap reviews. For them, a sustainable life isn't just a dream, it's how they expect to live. And many expect their university to help them create that life.

Sustainable Development Goals Online is a multimedia collection of academic resources that will help you integrate sustainability into your courses. It will help you enable your students to deliver the change they want to throughout their careers and lives.

Discover the collection at taylorfrancis.com/sdgo

- 96% of recent graduates have an expectation to be involved in sustainability in some way during their careers and 70% of respondents believe that sustainability should be covered by their university course (OLKOS survey of 1,800 university students worldwide, 2016)
- SDGO is a large repository of broad, interdisciplinary content that can benefit a wide range of faculties and departments, from civil engineering to economics to the humanities
- It has been created by Taylor & Francis in association with the United Nations' PRME division and guided by an international Advisory Board of academics, practitioners, policy-makers, those working in third sector, government, and NGO contexts
- Helping your instructors and programme leaders to integrate multimedia resources into their curricula and meet the needs of today's digital-first students, this content includes not only book chapters and journal articles but videos, presentations, and a range of other Teaching & Learning materials
- SDGO is part of Taylor & Francis eBooks, so you can administer the collection in the same interface as your other entitlements and so all content is DRM-free, Kbart compliant, and has downloadable MARC records available
- As well as purchasing the whole collection – allowing you to meet the teaching and research needs of a broad range of departments and faculties – you can also create your own package based on individual goals, allowing you to purchase content relevant to specific faculties or courses.

Discover the collection at taylorfrancis.com/sdgo

